February 11, 2021

Dear West Deptford Families,

Due to the continuing storm and the dangerous road conditions, all schools in the district will pivot to remote instruction for Thursday, February 11th.

All schools will follow their normal hybrid/virtual learning schedule. Again, we hope that students will have time after their school day is complete today to enjoy the snow.

Elementary Information

Synchronous (live) virtual instruction will be provided to students whose cohort is scheduled to attend in-person instruction on the day in which this event takes place. These students will follow their typical Friday virtual schedule. School will conclude for the day at 1:00 pm following their last live session.

If your student's cohort is not scheduled to attend in-person on this day, they will continue to follow the asynchronous assignments on the teacher's Google Classroom. This procedure will support the momentum of instruction moving forward with the least amount of disruption to the pacing of instruction.

All cohort D students will continue with their regularly scheduled synchronous (live) virtual instruction.

Middle School Information

The Middle School will run the normal hybrid bell schedule of instruction from 7:55am to 11:55am. There will not be office hours in the afternoon. All sports and activities are cancelled.

High School Information

The High School will run the normal hybrid bell schedule of instruction from 7:15am to 11:16am. There will not be office hours in the afternoon. All sports and activities are cancelled.

Young Eagles Program

The Young Eagles Program will be closed on Thursday, February 11, 2021. Families will be credited for any time missed due to weather-related closure.

If you have any questions about today's instruction please contact your child's teacher or principal.

Stay safe and stay warm.

Greg Cappello
